

Fourth Period Gossip

Reasons why we believe you shouldn't vote for Elliot, first of all he claims all his goals are achievable; really there is no way that administration will do everything that he is wanting. He was very vague in his extra-curricular activities, he answered yes, ok what are they. I mean you're a in high school does it include partying or the real stuff like volunteering? So you make friends easily? I never knew him before the election, I am not sure he is the true candidate let's look more closely at Austin he's got everything we are looking for and has a reputation of an outstanding student.

Do you really want a President who is all about winning and really could care less about national problems and the people of the nation? When asked what he plans to do with his future he responded by saying winning I think this may explain how self-centered Long would be has a president. Not only is he self-centered president he approves of selling teen bodies for fundraising with in the schools. He is also very sexist when asked his relationship status he said that he does not like ladies which may mean he may take some women rights away giving women less freedom. So I think the smartest choice is voting for a candidate that cares about the nation, his people and the right of women vote Austin if you want a candidate who cares.

Nate Boscaljon is one of six members of his family. He has two sisters, one brother, and along with his parents. His hobbies are breeding fish, longboarding, scrabble, snowboarding, piano, and playing the drums. He is involved in extra-curricular activities including football, band, and track. Nate is currently employed at Tailgater's as a server. He can make friends easily and he is currently taken in his relationship status. He is planning after graduation is to go to SDSMT (South Dakota School of Mines and Technology) and would like to be a Chemical Engineer. Nate's favorite food is spaghetti and his grades are above average in school. When Nate Boscaljon was asked about his race to become president, Nate feels like his goals on his platform are achievable and he should be president.

get you to know him. Austin Weisenbach lives in a family of three besides himself (mom, dad, and sister). Austin excels academically. Austin participates in the following extra-curricular activities: disc golf, bowling, community service, and fishing. Austin is currently employed at East way Bowl. Weisenbach's dream job is to be, "the president". When we asked Austin if all of his goals on his platform are achievable, he replied, "most definitely without a doubt". When asked if Austin makes friends easily he replied, "Quite". Austin was asked why he felt he should be president and he said, "I'm the best there is, plain an' simple". When mentioned about his relationship status, Weisenbach stated, "wouldn't you like to know?" With all said, I believe Austin Weisenbach would be a very capable candidate.

Danger!!!

Will you support you children running off high ledges or dressing provocatively in the name of money, or spending time alone in the wilderness, because your political candidates support this! Elliot Blue supports the idea of a wildness class that will drop kids in the deep wildness and tell them to survive. Long Pham supports classes such as blacksmithing, rock climbing and parkour all of which could cause serious injuries from major burns to serious bone fractures. Nate Boscaljon supports the prostitution of you children through a perverted carwash. Austin Weisenbach supports the complete racing of all terrain vehicles in a controlled environment. These are just some of the many dangers the candidates for this terms elections support

The First poll we took the results were

Get to know your presidents
There are a lot of different stances for this political election. Both Nate and Long have pro-phone stances on their platform, while

Elliot and Austin both have no mention of phones on their platform. Austin and Long both have similar stances on raising taxes slightly. Nate and Elliot both have no mention of an improvement to the heating system in the school. After that the similarities between candidate's platforms ends. Each candidate has different views on different subjects. Long would like to allow phone usage during tests, Austin would support building a parking ramp to help the underclassman from having to walk in the extreme elements of South Dakota, Elliot would like to build a drive in movie theater out of the practice football field, and Nate would support men dressing up in spandex to play for the men's volleyball team.
